Dear Irv:

It is with sincere pleasure I write this letter to express my thanks and gratitude for all the assistance you have provided my organization.

Throughout the past year, several businessmen and professional people have mentioned your name with the highest regard, which prompted me to get in touch with you. The praise that they relayed to me turned out to be understated!

From our initial meeting at our corporate headquarters through our various other appointments, I have been extremely impressed, with your business acumen, your loyal contacts of professionals who respect you, and by the time and attention you devoted to me and my company.

I only look forward to a continuing warm relationship between us.

Please relay my fondest regards to Iris.

Sincerely,
